A short reflection on today's Gospel John 6:24-35

I am the bread of life

Today's Gospel according to John witnesses Jesus making a solemn claim for the first time.

'I am the bread of life. Whoever comes to me will never be hungry and whoever believes in me will never be thirsty.'

Jesus uses the simple, accessible image of bread to help his listeners understand the powerful truth that it is only through him, through our full-hearted embrace of his life, death, and resurrection that we can finally come to eat at the table of his Father and taste the food of eternal life.

This truth leaves no room for narcissism in the individual; it leaves no room for the exclusive pursuit of this world's power or status; it leaves no room for notions of superiority or self-righteousness, because all of these leave no room for God. All we need is hunger for God, who is the only food which endures.

Jesus, you are the bread of life, the bread which endures; you are the true bread from heaven. May we turn away from material things to feed our souls, material things which inevitably fade and die, and turn instead to the nourishment of the bread of eternal life, 'the true bread from heaven.'
