

A short Gospel reflection Matthew 5:17-37

In today's Gospel, Jesus teaches that He has come not to abolish the Law, but to fulfil it by leading us to its deepest meaning. The commandments are no longer presented as mere external rules, but as a call to interior conversion. Jesus points to the heart, showing that anger, lust, and dishonesty are not minor faults but signs of a divided life that needs healing. This Gospel challenges us to move beyond minimal obedience and toward a righteousness shaped by love and integrity. While these teachings may seem demanding, they are ultimately an invitation to freedom. Through God's grace, especially in prayer and the sacraments, our hearts are gradually transformed so that our words, actions, and desires reflect the faith we profess.

Prayer for Vocations to the Priesthood: Heavenly Father, You sent Your Son, Jesus Christ, to fulfil the Law in perfect love. Raise up holy and faithful men for diocesan priesthood whose steadfast "yes" will serve Your Church with pure hearts and courageous truth.
